FOR AND AGAINST CLEVELAND. CHICAGO, July 5.-Anti-Cleveland talk was the distinguishing feature of yesferday's political status so far as it could be observed at the Palmer House, which is the center of the turmoil. The arrivals of delegates and political workers were quite numerous, though no delegations came in a General Spinola, State Senator & ady, L.

J. Fitzgerald, Congressman Muller, and John A. Greene, sity editor of the Morning Journal, all of New York, were some of those who entertained the rotunda crowd with anti-Cleveland sentiments. 3 General Spinola, who is the alternate-atlarge for Dan Manning, declared that Cleveland, if nominated, would lose New York by 100,000 majority. would lose New York by 100,000 majority. Every labor organization in the State and the rank and file of the workingmen, he said, were stubbornly opposed to him. Senator Grady was equally positive that such would be the result. Mr. Fitzgerald, who is a manufacturer and employs 1,200 or 1,500 men, said that his men, knowing that helywas a delegate, came to him before he left and toldishim that if Cleveland was nominated not one of them would vote for him.

The Cleveland men, notwithstanding the talk was running against them, appeared confident, and still declared that they were consident, and still declared that they were sure to win. The leaders, Manning, Apgar and Cooper, were invisible to the crowd all day, except to such as hunted them out in their rooms. Two enthusiastic Cleveland men arrived last evening in the person of ex-Congressman Lockwood and Solomon Schew, of Buffalo. They mixed freely with the crowd and talked straight from the shoulder for Cleveland. Mr. Lock. rom the shoulder for Cleveland. Mr. Lockfrom the shoulder for Cleveland. Mr. Lock-wood is the man who has done Cleveland's nominating for many years. He nominated him for Mayor of Buffalo and for Governor, and for one or two offices he held between times. He has been safected to nominate him in the convention for President. He is ald to be a very able man and a fine

Until the status of the New York delegathe states of the New York delega-tion is definitely learned it is next to impos-sible to tell how the delegations from other States will vote. 'Scattering delegates from other States were questioned, but they were found cautious, as a rule, in expressing

Col. Plympton, Butter's manager, thinks that if Cleveland gets the New York delegation under the unit rule by a scratch majority his pressige will be destroyed to such an extent that other States will not fall in line. Exceptly they might count to his surjority his prestige will be destroyed to such an extent that other States will not fall in line. Possibly they might come to his support if Connecticut and New Jersey did, but he did not think those States would do so. It is recognized generally, Mr. Plympton said, that New York, Connecticut and New Jersey are States which it is necessary to have in order to will. A doubt about Cleveland's being able to carry New York is all the party could possibly put up with. If Connecticut and New Jersey refuse their hearty support Cleveland will drop out of the contest.

The Flower men naturally talked for their own candidate as well as against Cleveland. Several of Flower's supporters arrived yesterday. Two of their are Mayor Stahlnecker, of Yonkers, and George D. Sandford, of Peckskiil, both of whom are delegates. S. S. Marshall, of Mount Vernon, a prominent New York State politician, was another. Mr. Stahlnecker and Mr. Sandford said their constituents were enthusiastic Flower men. The deling it New York State, they said, was nents were enthusiastic Flower men. The feeling in New York State, they said, was much more anti-Cleveland than the general public were aware of. They claimed that Flower would show strength in the New York delegation which would surprise those who had been listening to the Cleveland

The Butler boom, if anything working purcosely in quiet and under the surface can be called a boom, remained in about the same state vesterday as it was the day before. The Butlerites do not intend to make any noise until General Butler arrives tonight. Arrangements were completed resterday whereby one hundred veterans of the war agreed to meet General Benjamin F. war agreed to meet General Benjamin r.

labor organizations will act with the vetarans. Upon the arrival of the General at the hotel, a Reception Committee of fourtree leaders in the runks of theor will welteen leaders in the ranks of labor will welteen leaders in the ranks of labor will welcome him, and the chairman, P. H. Mo-Logan, of the Typographical Union, will lead an address. It is expected that the Massachusetts statesman will respond with a speech, and arrangements have been made to use the balcony on the Mourbe street aide of the Paimer House for the jarross. So far as beard from the number expected to march in the procession of trades will be eight or ten thousand men, but the crowd drawn to the yielnity of the hotel by the labor demonstration on its line of march and the desire to see and hear General Butler will, it is estimated, swell the assemfor will, it is estimated, swell the assem-blage to twenty-five or thirty thousand. It is already evident that the tariff plank of the platform will be the first bone of contention in the Democratic Convention. A score or more of platform-writers are here with their peculiar views already written out. Henry Watterson and Manton Marble, have thrown themselves into the breach and have thrown themselves into the breach and absorbed their willingness to thruish party principles in the way of resolutions that are warranted to wash. They represent the two leading schools of Democratic thought on the turiff. Watterson, who is financed by Congressmen Hurd and Morrison, insists upon a platform that shall declare unguive cally for a tariff for revenue only, or a tariff only for revenue, while Marble will content himself with a declaration for a reduction of clustoms duties for a revenue busis but so adjusted as to give protection to

The fight between these two wings of The fight between these two wings of the party will be as ferce; as that between the hard and soft money factions at St. Louis in 1876. To a large extent the East and West twill be divided as they were eight years ago. Now, as them, an effort will be made to identify the candidates in Lost night the three were elated over their affected discovery that of the thirty eight committeemen twenty-three will be squarely in favor of their tariff views. This claim is not admitted by their opponents, and they declare that Watterson. Morrison and Hurd are playing a game of bluff that will not compel any one to lay down.

binii that will not compel any one way down.

Speaking of the platform last night, Mr.
Waterson said: "The Democratic party must say it is for a revenue tariff without any protective features. I do not care for the mere verbiage of the resolution. The platform of 1370 or 1890 will suit me, but the principle must be stated unequivocally. Incidental protection is a fraud. There can be no discrimination without protection, and this convention must oppose anything of that kind."

The Thurman boom received no new accessions yeaterday to speak of. The California friends of Thurman certainly mean fornia friends of Thurman certainly mean business and are trying hard to have the Butler element come to their support on the plea that Thurman has the same elements of strength outside of the party that Butler boasts of, and besides considerably more strength within the party than almost any other candidate mentioned.

A New York delegate, who arrived here yesterday, says that Dan Manning, the man to whom Tilden wrote the letter deman to whom Tilden wrote the letter de-cibing the nomination, has another com-munication from Tilden, written recently, which he will make public under certain circumstances. Tilden does not, in this second letter, change his opinion about his doctination, but devotes his time to giving advice as to who shall and who shall not be nominated. He does not absolutely make any one his lega-tee, though he expresses hunself more friendly to Cleveland than to any of the other candidates. He says a good word for Bardall, but it is rather a recommendation Randall, but it is rather a recommendation that Randall shall be allowed to remain in Congress on account of his splendid parliamentary abilities than anything else.

LONG BRANCH BLAINE'S HEADQUARTERS.

LONG BRANCH N. J., July 5.—The cottage built by Mr. John Hoey in Hollywood Park for President Arthur will, it is stated on excellent authority, be occupied during the summer by James G. Blaine. His object is to be near the Republican headquarters so as to be able to consult frequently with the leaders of the party. The cottage is the largest on the Jersey coast, and has twenty-six rooms, in addition to the servants' quarters. It is said that Mr. Blaine will make Long Branch his headquarters during the campaign. during the campaign.

A DEVASTATING STORM.

A"Funnel-Shaped Cloud Performs Antics and Destroys Much Proporty. Sioux Ciry, Ia., July 5 .- A storm having

southern part of this city about six o'clock last evening. It came from a little north of the storm was confined to a funnel-shaped cloud which moved with great rapidity and made a roaring sound. The bluffs rent the cloud and scattered; its force so that it passed the business portion of the city without doing much damage. When the eastern portion of the city was reached the storm appeared to regala its fury and did much damage to property in the course of its freaks. One of the immense iron tanks of the oil works was carried away, but a large pile of empty barrels close by was undisturbed. The belfry of the Catholic Church was bown off, and the walls of the bullding so badly sprung as to make it unsafe. The badly sprung as to make it unsafe. The plate-glass windows of the auction house, Lyons' gun store and Kearney's grocery were broken. Slatter's livery stable and the building occupied by Spenkberg's wholesale grocery were partially demolished. The new Episcopal Mission Church bullding and two adjacent frame cottages were blown over. The plow factory, a large brick bullding, was destroyed, at a loss of $15,000. The subtle-stacks, orths and out-buildings of Booge's packing-house were destroyed. The streets; are full of uproofed trees and the debris of the storm.

Twice Swept by Fire.

Tononto, Can., July 5.—Little less than a year ago the town of Port Perry, which is situated forty miles from hero, was almost onsumed by fire. Late Thursday night a conflagration again broke out in a hotel and rapidly spread over the entire business por-tion of the place, destroying all the principal tan of the price, test styring in the principles, banks, hotels and business houses, the residents being unable to cope with the flames for want of proper first engines. Many handsome buildings which were created after the last fire were consumed. and now only a few bouses are left standing to mark the site of the town. It is believed the loss will reach nearly half a million dol-lars. The insurance is not yet known; but will not, it is feared, by any means cover

Both Houses of Congress Hold Day and Night Sessions on the Fourth and Accomplish Much.

Other Capital News.

THE ADJOURNMENT QUESTION. WASHINGTON, July & .- The question of adjournment is the subject of considerable speculation at the capital. A good deal of uncertainty exists on account of the condicts on the Defliciency and Sundry Civil Appropriation bills. There is a consuming lesire on the part of Senators and membody thought matters were progressing favorably Mr. Holman became stubborn and stated in vigorous Anglo-Saxon that rather than yield to the Senate main until August. The situation is pressing and matters have narrowed down practically to legislation by the committees of conference consisting of three members from each branch. Quite a number of Congressmen left for Chicago last night and others will follow to day. Speaker Carliste others will follow to-day. Speaker Carliste and Mr. Randall both asserted positively that an adjournment would be reached by to-night. Each gentleman expects to leave for Chicago to-night or on Sunday at the furthest. Randail is to be on the ground for the purpose of seeing that nothing savoring of free trade shall find a lodgment in the tartifular of the matform. Mr. Carlisle's missing of the matform. trade shall find a lodgment in the tariff plank of the platform. Mr. Carlisle's mission is like unto that of his distinguished colleague with the exception that he is as equally determined that the principles of revenue reform shall be stated in the platform in no uncertain terms. This, at least, is what Mr. Carlisle said the day following the defeat of the Morrison bill. The war between Massrs. Reinfall The war between Messra, Randall and Carliste, inaugurated early at this session, will be longht to its conclusion at Chicago. It is an interesting struggle as it now stands, and its result will, be awaited with considerable interest.

THE RETIREMENT OF GENERAL AVERILL The RETRIEMENT OF GENERAL AVERGLE.

The Senate having agreed to the House bill retiring General Averill with the rank of Colonel, the question arises whether the President will, in view of his message on the Fitz John Porter bill, consiler this message an equal infraction of his constitutional prerogatives of appointment. General Averill's friends express the onlying that the President will approve the opinion that the President will approve the bill, for the reason that it leaves the ap-pointment discretionary with him. It is now too late to allow the bill to become a law without signature, because ten days are not likelyto intervene before adjournment, and also a voto vessage would be unnecessary. All the President has to do, if he diapproves the bill, is to pocket it.

BASSON'S APPOINTMENT. The nomination of Mr. Kasson to be Minister to Berlin was not unexpected, al-Minister to Berlin was not unexpected, although he denied desiring that or any other foreign mission. Some months ago he declined a re-election to Congress, and announced his determination to retire permanently from public life, it is believed that he would have carried out this intention had not the President repeatedly urged him to become Mr. Sargent's successor. The selection is regarded as an excellent one. Mr. Kasson possesses the qualifications that will emable him to discharge the duties of his office in a manner no less acceptable to the strict conventionalities of the Corman Court than was the work of the long line of distinguished men who preceded him. guisted men who preceded him.

Conferees on the Fortifications bill reached an agreement last night, and the bill will be reported and passed early to morrow. Five of the annual appropriation bills remain to be disposed of, as follows: The Naval, the Consular and Diphomatic, the Sundry Civil, the Policiency and the Legislative. These have passed both Houses, and considerable progress has been junde on sail of themsen the conference. It is believed by members of the Appropriation Committee that no difficulty will be experienced in reaching an agreement upon all but the Navial bill by to-night. It remains probable that the bill will fail, and that the appropriation of tast year will be continued until next summent. HOGRESS OF THE APPROPRIATION BH.LS.

The House met yesterday morning in continuation of Thursday ssession. The conference report on the bill to consoldate the fursea of Military Justice and the corps of Judge Advocates was concurred in. The Mexican Pension bill was called up, but pending its consideration the absence of a querim was discovered. The proceedings were intertupied with military in the conference report on the General Designer bill. It amounted disarrements to awenty-three subjects. Messers Randall, Burns and Calkins were appointed conference. The sonference report on the River and Harbor bill was presented and consurred in. The amount is increased from $12,080,200, the amount fixed by the House, to $18,287,600. The conference report on Mr. McMillan's bill to reduce the time in which offenders against the Revenue law shall be prosecuted was concurred in. When the penalty is imprisonment the time is reduced from five years to three, and in all other cases to two years. Flithustering to defeat the Penalon bill was resumed, and the House took a recess until nine o'clock in the evening.

At the evening cossion the consideration of the Penalon bill was resumed. In view of the strong opposition to the measure on the purt of those who right the granting of service pentsions at inselvisable, and of these who did not approve the restrictions place to in the bill by the Senate, Mr. Townshend, who has charge of the measure, moved that the Senate amendments be non-concurred in and a conference ordered. Mr. Townshend insisted on a vote on the Pension bill, and a year and any your showed the House to be without a quorum. Mt. Holman presented the conference report on the Judicial and Expentive Appropriation bills, showing a creenient to all but twenty-six of the 281 amendments made by the Senate. The toral amount appropriated by the bill as far as agreed upon 18 $20,881,31. A motion to conour in some of the amendments in dispute was lost, and the House, Insisting on its disagreement, up pointed Messrs. Holman, flancock and Cannot of clock.

TAMA, Ia., July 5.—The medal of ionor awarded by the Iowa Legislature to Miss Kate Shelly, as an act of recognition of bravery displayed in saving a passenger train from certain destruction on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway three years formally presented Ogden yesterday. The event brought together the largest crowd ever as: sembled in the little village, including a number of men of State prominence. The Northwestern Road ran a special train from Boone, the home of the young herolas, which here her and her immediate relatives, as well as a large party of in vited guests, to the scene of the presentation. Hon. Welker Given, Governor Sheratton, Aoa. Weiger Given, Governor Sher-man's private secretary, did the honors of the occasion, the Governor not being able to attend. At the request of Miss Sheily, Prof. J. E. Currow, of Angus, responded. After the ceremonics Miss Sheily received at the Park, where a large number of people called to use their respects.

The incident from which the event of to-day had its origin occurred three years ago on July 6. Miss Shelly was then a girt of on July 6. Jass Steiny was then a girt of fifteen years. Her father had been a section hand on the Northwestern Rallway, but had lost his life. The girt and her mother with two other children lived in a hut near the rallway track upon the side. hill near Boone, overlooking the valley of Maingona Creek. On the night men-tioned a terrible rain-storm swept through the country and the usually quice stream soon became a raging tor-rent, the waters undermined and swent out the trestle-work to the railwa bridge, but the ties and ralls still held their place. The Omata express was due from the West in a short time. The girl knew that the exigineer would be deceived by the fact that at a distance the ralls were apparently intact. Something must be done to get the warning to the next station West, which was the small town of Moingona. She could not cross the stream, for the waters were impassable. She resolved to brave the fary of the stream and risk her life on the treacherous rallway bilde. Her mother protestal, but sho was determined. Lighting a lantern, she went forth carefully. She felt her way upon the toppling structure. With the aid of her lantern she walked, of crept and crawled as best she might. or crept and crawled as best she might. Her mother watched from the window of the house expecting every moment to see her meet her death. But she made the trip and stopped the train in time to prevent i entastrophe at the bridge which was washed from its supports. The train was heavily leaded, and among its passengers were many prominent people. The modal is her says:

The complications wherewith the contest between China and France threaton the trade of the United States of America, England and Germany will be of a most scrious character. It will be difficult to prevent American and European adventurers from engaging in the strite and thus raising delicate international questions. We must hope Pekin will again bow to the inovitable and yield this time without maserve.
